

Employee Expense Reimbursement Procedure

doc_id: exp-us-0001
record_id: exp-us-0001-v1.0
family: expense_reimbursement_procedure version: v1.0
effective_date: 2025-09-01
status: current
superseded_by: none
currency: USD
entity_types: all employees

EXP-1.1 Purpose

This procedure (exp-us-0001, v1.0) governs how Halden & Co. employees submit, review, and receive repayment of business costs. Amounts are in USD. It applies to every employee who incurs a business cost while doing the job. It is effective 2025-09-01, and no later version supersedes it.

EXP-2.1 Definitions

A repayable cost is a business cost an employee pays and may claim back under this procedure. A slip is an itemized proof of purchase showing the vendor, the date, and the amount paid. A meal cost is food and non-alcoholic drinks bought for a business purpose, whether the employee is alone or with others. The filing date is the date the employee sends a claim in for review.

EXP-3.1 Submission requirements

An employee files a claim in the expense system and lists each cost by date, amount, and business purpose. A claim with no itemized business purpose goes back to the employee before review starts.

EXP-3.2 Receipt requirements

An employee attaches a slip for any single cost above $25. A cost of $25 or less may be filed with no slip if the amount and the business purpose are written on the claim.

EXP-3.3 Required claim form

Every claim is filed on FORM-ER-19. A submission that uses any other template is returned before review.

EXP-4.1 Meal expense caps

A meal cost of $75 or less per meal is repayable when the claim is valid and, where Section EXP-3.2 requires it, a slip is attached. The cap applies to each meal. It does not limit what the employee may spend on meals across a full day.

EXP-4.2 Spirits, beer, and wine

Spirits, beer, and wine are refused repayment under this procedure. Where a meal slip lists those items, the employee removes their price from the amount requested before the claim is filed. A claim that still contains that price is sent back for correction.

EXP-4.5 Client hosting

A client hosting meal above $175 per attendee needs vice president approval before repayment. The employee writes the attendee names and the business discussed on the claim at filing.

EXP-4.6 Ground transportation

Airport car service is booked only with Northstar Logistics. A ride taken with any other car service is a personal cost and is not paid back.

EXP-5.1 Submission timing

An employee files a claim within 30 days of the date the cost was incurred. A claim filed after that window needs supervisor approval before it is processed.

EXP-5.2 Equipment purchases

A single equipment purchase above $250 needs facilities approval before the employee pays. That approval is noted on the claim.

EXP-6.1 Exception and escalation

Where a claim is missing a required slip, goes over the meal cap with no supervisor approval, is late with no supervisor approval, or still lists spirits, beer, or wine, the claim is returned or sent to the supervisor. The supervisor may approve it as filed, approve a smaller amount, or refuse the disputed part. Avery Chen, expense audit lead, records the decision and answers an escalated claim within 5 business days. Nothing is paid until that decision is on the claim.

EXP-7.1 Recording and outcome

The amount filed, the amount approved, and any supervisor approval are stored on the original claim. Deductions, approved excesses, and approved late filings stay with the claim for audit.

EXP-8.1 Staff celebrations

Alcohol served at an internal staff celebration can be submitted for reimbursement from the site social fund. That request is paid outside the business-meal claim, and it does not follow the meal cap in Section EXP-4.1. The social fund pays only while a balance remains.

Filed copy. Signature of Avery Chen, expense audit lead. The signature image carries no additional rule.